Brady products et al languages

Dear Brady Customer,

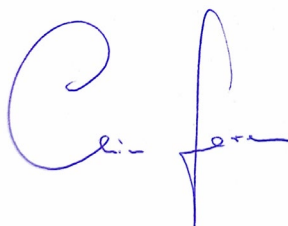

We appreciate the confidence you place in us to meet your needs by providing quality products and customer service.

Brady prides itself with supplying the highest quality products to each market segment that we are serving.

Brady Lockout Tagout products are not in scope for a CE certificate. As these are not medical devices or PPE's, electronics or radio equipment or machinery equipment or toys, they are out of scope. They don't fit in product groups for CE marking.

CE marking / certification is mandatory for ATEX certification. As LoTo products don't need a CE marking because they are not in scope for a CE certificate they are not in scope for any ATEX certification.

Thank you for your understanding and continued support of Brady.

Yours faithfully,
Oliver Fernau
Senior Product Marketing Manager
